Zur Person Sevan D. Gerard:

Sevan D. Gerard, M.A. Security Studies - Center for Homeland Defense and Security Naval Postgraduate School, is a Nationally Certified Emergency Educator (NCEE) and has extensive behavioral and cross-cultural knowledge having lived and worked abroad and speaking multiple languages. His educational background is broad both as a student and an educator and my work experience spans many security disciplines including homeland security, intelligence and counterterrorism, public policy, emergency management, emergency education, all-hazard public safety, and the unintended consequences of technological innovation and adoption.
